Sweet Words

The spirit of the Martyr

Hello dear friends,,

Memories of martyrs pass every and each day in our minds and in the mind of Martyrs' families too. We recall their memories not to cry for their loss or being sad for them not being around, but to be proud of them, their sacrifices, the epics tournaments they have made for this nation.

Those martyrs chose to be elevated to the skies not to the territory of the graves, their bodies are raining pure blood hugging the soil of homeland to grow the flag from our pure land and send the lights testament to the loyalty and dedication of these heroes.

Peace be upon Our Martyrs,
May Allah rest them in peace.

Best Regards

The History of the World

Once upon a Month

Prepared by: Eman Hosny Qassem Designed by: Shaimaa Ibrahim Gamil

The European Union is born

1st November 1993

From today, the EC will now be known as the European Union (EU) and a tight timetable for economic and monetary union will bring member state closer together. The EU will take on new responsibilities for a common foreign and security policy on affairs such as asylum, immigration, terrorism and drugs. The new terms were laid down in the Maastricht Treaty which followed many years of negotiations between the foreign and finance ministers of the EC member state. Britain has opted out of the social chapter which concerns workers' rights, but citizens in all 12 countries are now Europeans with rights to live and work in any other EU state. Many countries have held a referendum to determine their entry into the EU. The Danes rejected the treaty and will not be joining. The French referendum gained only a marginal victory, and in Germany the treaties were referred to the constitutional courts, but were eventually voted in.

TV. Age Begins

2 November 1936

The world's first TV service was inaugurated by the British Broadcasting Corporation today. An estimated 100 TV owners, all living within a radius of 25 miles (40 km) from the studio Alexandra palace, north London, saw the Postmaster General perform the opening ceremony. The BBC is using the system developed by Mr. John Logie Baird, which at present involves a 40second delay between the event being shown and the actual transmission; during this 40 seconds a film is developed, printed and projected. It is believed that a simultaneous system will shortly be introduced. For the time being there will be two one-hour transmissions a day. Although television sets cost up to £ 184 ($ 100) it is thought that the number of owners will increase rapidly now that programmes can be transmitted regularly.

New York gets streetcars

Students' Safety while crossing

Excuse me, this area is dedicated for students' crossing. All of them are your kids' colleagues. Please drive more safely and cautiously.

Sorry, I apologies. I was checking that my kids took all of their school tools.

Of course that makes you distracted between driving and talking.. Home is the place for preparations Madam, Safe driving is a mandatory in the street.

I promise I'll be always cautious and considerate while driving.

Thanks God you are safe and sound.

Thanks Dad for staying with us and not leaving. It make it easier for my brother.

Engineer Salem

Dangers of staying up at night

Why didn't you reply back to my joke yesterday Salem?

We must use the indicators properly, because other drivers can't see which lane we are taking.

We shouldn't forget using windscreen and rear wipers continuously for clear vision.

Oh! There is a torrent ahead dad, are you going to cross it?

No.. we will not risk ourselves, so as not to drift the vehicle or allow water to drown the engine, causing it to stall.

There are too much rules for driving while raining dad.. it seems very difficult to follow them all.

No.. these rules are for our own and others

safety Hessa .. We must abide them all.

The End

Traffic Jungle

Unacceptable manipulation

Qardon loves driving with high speed, he doesn't care about traffic rules.

You got high speed fines because you don't know how to deal with radars in the road.

What do you mean?!

It is very simple; first you have to know the places of radar in the street, before you come to it lower your speed, when you pass it speed up again.

I think this will be risky and stressful while driving.

Are you going to show me with your car?

Yes. Come in.

No risk at all.. come I'll show you.

As you can see, I'm driving at 120 Km while the speed of the road is 80 km, after a while we will encounter a radar.

Let's see what will you do.

Now I'll show you how will I deal with the next radar.

Facts about Deserts

Drawings: Shaimaa Ibrahim - Scenario: Eman Hosny

Wow! Look at all those sand dunes, my friends

Deserts cover about 20% of all land area in the world. They only receive less than 10 inches of rain annually

They cover a huge area

Important information, Alyaa .. It's clear that you have benefitted from the book I gave you as a present about the deserts

They look like they are very hot

Yes .. but not always. The heat in some deserts is scorching during the day, but the temperature can drop to below zero after sunset

Praise be to God

Sand dunes cover about 10% of the deserts

Desert plants can stay without water for years in a row, and some live for hundreds of years

Desert animals have developed ways to adapt, which help them retain coolness of their bodies and consume less water. Camels, for example, can stay for days without food or water

And what is the biggest desert, Alyaa?

The Sahara Desert in North Africa is the biggest desert in the world, with total area exceeding nine million square kilometres

We gained a lot of valuable information today .. Thank you, Alyaa

Sahih, the Roads Friend

Dealing with a sudden accident

Today dear friends
I'll teach you an
important thing.
How to deal if we
encounter a sudden
accident on the road.

When that happens,
first thing to do
is reducing speed
gradually.

Don't stop in the
accident's place; it
leads to more confusion
and problems.

Stop in a safe place,
unless it is necessary
to stop.

Do not stop
suddenly, it is very important, so as not
to cause other cars
collide.
